

structure.
process.
outcomes.

MAGNET MONDAY

DECEMBER 3, 2012

MGH Professional Practice Model

Our Professional Practice Model provides a comprehensive view of the components of professional practice and the contributions of all disciplines engaged in patient care. It provides the framework for achieving clinical outcomes and showcases our collaborative and innovation efforts to realize our vision. The pieces of our Professional Practice Model help to delineate knowledge embedded in our practice; describe skill acquisition; identify and resolve barriers to clinical practice; and define strategies that encourage and celebrate professional development.

structure.
process.
outcomes.

MAGNET MONDAY

DECEMBER 3, 2012

Patient Care Delivery Model

The vision statement for Patient Care Services states, “Patients are our primary focus, and the way we deliver care reflects that focus every day.” The patient care delivery model at MGH is interdisciplinary, patient- and family-centered care. The person, family/group are viewed as a unique, dynamic and complex whole, who experience health in a personal way, informed by their own history and cultural experiences. Patient- and family-centered care optimizes this relationship and creates a care-delivery system that is centered around the patient.

A philosophy of relationship-based care guides our practice, emphasizing basic tenets of the caregiver’s relationship with:

- Self (self-awareness)
- Team/Colleagues
- Patient and Family
- Environment of Care

Question: Can you describe how interdisciplinary, patient- and family-centered care is practiced in your clinical setting?

Magnet Lunch Forum

12-1pm, every Thurs., Lunder 234

(lunch provided) An opportunity for leadership, Collaborative Governance champions and other staff to learn more about Magnet Recognition and the Magnet Monday topic-of-the-week.