Callind ALL Nurses! A Celebration of Practice Nurses’ Scholarship: MGH Nursing Research Day Poster Award Winner Presentations

Activity Description: Nurses serve on the frontlines of patient care and transform observations and care giving experiences into nursing inquiry to improve patient and family-centric care across the lifespan. This course offers the opportunity for nurses to share scholarship pertaining to QI, EBP and original research reflecting unit-based initiatives to enhance patient care and nursing workforce-related issues in the ambulatory, community and inpatient setting.

Learning Objective(s):
At the end of this offering, the learner will be able to:
• Articulate the process of transforming a nursing care experience or observation into a form of inquiry to evaluate outcomes aimed to promote successful patient outcomes and/or strategies to strengthen nursing practice and care delivery.
